"AGRARIAN" SUBTERRANEAN

Illustrates in Oklahoma Given Ex-

Law's Operation Revolted

Washington, D. C., Sept. 26.—How a small coterie of active anti-war workers operating under the direction of the I. W. W. persuaded hundreds of unlettered Oklahoma farmers to take up arms against government enforcement of the selective draft law, is revealed in papers seized by federal agents in the recent nation-wide raid of I. W. W. headquarters.

Farmers Looked for Success.
Testimony given in Oklahoma to the effect that a national uprising was planned, in which towns would be seized, cities attacked, and bridges burned, was taken by officials here as an indication that the Oklahoma farmers really believed the plan would carry. As a matter of fact, officials assert, even the most radical leaders knew that it could accomplish little more than local disturbances. The farmers were incited to take up arms with the full knowledge that the movement would lead to nothing, simply as an expedient to embarrass the government temporarily.

Began as Agrarian Move.
The anti-draft demonstration started as an agrarian movement, where a number of I. W. W. farmers obtained an exaggerated idea of the law's operation. Certain I. W. W. leaders, instead of secret meetings, held the farmers in the churches and other buildings at night, and went on to the scene to lead the demonstrators upon rebellion, it is said, by playing upon their fears.

Expected Millions to Join.
It was represented to the farmers that thousands of their neighbors, in Missouri, Kansas and Texas, were ready to unite in an armed uprising, that "millions of men working for wages" would join them in other states, and that the movement would not fail to result in an overthrow of the government.
With the government overthrow, there was to be a general division of the rich men among the "men working for wages," and other benefits of wide dimensions were to be obtained. Department of justice agents operating in the vicinity learned of the ambitious program and prior to July 27, the night set for the general uprising, brought the project to an end with the arrest of the alleged ring leaders. At no time, it was said, was the distinction made between local in character, nor regarded here as likely to spread.

This amount compares with a present tonnage of 3,500,000 of which 700,000 represents German and Austrian ships under operation by the United States. The American ships available for service number 458 and aggregate 2,800,000 tons.

London, Sept. 26.—Although details are lacking, it is reported that a thrilling battle occurred between British and German airmen a few miles from London which probably accounts for the fact that last night's air raid resulted in so little damage. In the metropolis six were killed, and 16 were injured in southeastern London by bombs during the raid. German aeroplanes, although they crossed the coast at different places, were met and continually harried by a large force of British machines.

Raiders Turned Back.
Whether any of the raiders was brought down has not been learned, but according to early reports, the formation of the German fleet, which was coming toward London at a great height and at speed, was completely broken up by the British fliers, the raiders separating and all except one turning back closely pursued. So effective were the measures taken to intercept this lone intruder that he was unable to penetrate beyond the outskirts of London. While the anti-aircraft guns bombed constantly, establishing a barrage fire, around the city, diners in hotels and restaurants and audiences in theatres and at the opera for the most part were indifferent.

Advertising "Bomb Proof."
Some theatre and moving picture places, anticipating the raids, had increased their advertising in the evening papers with such announcements as: "Ample bomb proof shelter." Many persons went to parks for a good view of what they called the "hunt air show," while others went about the streets, looking for the cover under stairways, platforms and underground stations, where the most cautious, including thousands of women and children, sought shelter.

Crowds in Good Humor.
The scenes in these sheltered places were similar to those of Monday night, with laughing and joking and others reading newspapers, magazines, and books, with which they had provided themselves, apparently for a siege. The crowds in some places were having such a good time that the police found difficulty in dislodging them when the "all clear" signal was given. The morning papers devote more space to the description of the raids, all agreeing that the latter was a failure. The few papers containing editorial comment on the raid demand reprisals.

Medora, N. D., Sept. 26.—This is the most just war in which any nation has ever engaged," Father Pauwelyn, pastor of St. Patrick's church, told his congregation today. Father Pauwelyn was born under the German flag. When he came to America he became an American. It is a fight for liberty, for human rights and against the doctrine that might is right. Our first duty is to God and country. If a man lay down his life for God he is a martyr; if he lays down his life for his country he is a hero. We have but one flag. We can recognize no other, and we must do our part in fighting for it, whether it be in the trenches or here at home. Majority of Father Pauwelyn's parishioners are of German birth.

As it goes to conference, the bill totals $7,991,400,000, including $2,383,000,000 of contract authorizations and senate committee amendments totaling $20,000,000. Its principal items include:

A Tribune Friend and Patriot

Every Tribune subscriber who reads this letter will feel like shaking the hand of Thos. Gill, and commending him upon His True Americanism.

As it is in direct contrast to the letter this office received and published on September 10, from one Edw. Kugler, Mgr. of the Bituminous Coal Mine at Washburn, N. D., we believe our thousands of readers will take great pleasure in its reading.

Turtle Lake, N. D. Sept. 24th, '17
Bismarck Daily Tribune,
Bismarck, N. D.

Dear Sir:
I saw on the front page of your paper a short time ago a letter written your paper, signed by a party at Washburn, N. D., with the signature of a German-American, asking you to stop his paper.

When I read that letter, I said that is the paper for an American to read and so I want your paper sent to me.

I like everything about your paper, except one thing and that is the name Bismarck. Why should we as Americans try to keep alive the name of the man who said "God is on the side of the biggest guns."

Anyway the paper is O. K., but as a new comer in the state it seems strange to me that we should have the state CAPITAL named after a foreign prince, especially a prince like that. How about it?

Yours truly,

(Associated Press.)
With less than a weeks wait after delivering the recent smashing blow at the German lines in Flanders, the British have resumed their drive launching an attack on a wide front northeast and east of Ypres early this morning. In their new attack, the British pushed back the Germans over the high ground east of Ypres, Hepler's correspondent at British headquarters reports.

Driving in Wedge.
Apparently the efforts are aimed at driving in deeper the wedge forced into the German front astride the Ypres-Meulen road, and northward beyond the Ypres-Roulers railway line. The point of the wedge is now almost reached a line extending directly northward from Lille, the envelopment of which is assumed to be one of the greatest objectives of the Flanders attack.

Germans Staggering.
The new British blow was struck today just as the Germans were staggering from the effect of a sanguinary repulse they sustained in yesterday's heavy attack, which they delivered on the ridge east of Ypres. The Germans had made their way into the British line at two points, in one of these attacks, but were forced out by counter attacks.

Aerial and Naval Attacks.
Simultaneously, the British are continuing their aerial and naval attacks on the Belgian coast. Another bombardment of Ostend, one of the German naval bases, was carried out yesterday by British warships. The Germans apparently attempted an aerial attack on the fleet, for the British admiralty reports that air patrols encountered six hostile machines, two of which were brought down.

On the French Front.
On the French front, there has been only artillery activity and raiding operations. The artillery fire was intense last night in the Verdun region, between the Beaumont and Benzonvaux, northeast of the fortress.

French Boat Sinks.
The French steamship Admiral de Kersaint was sunk on September 14, after being attacked by a submarine, in Spanish territorial waters. The submarine opened fire from the midst of a fleet of fishing boats, the presence of which prevented the steamer from using her guns effectively.

The captain was taken prisoner on the submarine. Ten members of his crew were also taken.

New York, N. Y., Sept. 26.—The flour distributing committee of the New York produce exchange appointed by the United States food administration, announced today that the following will apply to flour to be sold by the food administration through this committee.

For all export patents $13.25 per sack of 220 pounds, which is equivalent to about $11.80 per barrel. All first clears, from $11.80 to $12.25 per sack of 220 pounds, according to quality, which is equivalent to $10.60 to $10.90 per barrel.

R. A. Claybrook, president of the produce exchange and chairman of the committee, expressed the belief that this action would keep the price of flour, which he predicted would have gone much higher before January 1, had there been no food control legislation enacted.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 26.—To relieve the shortage of wheat for the mills here, Canada is going to send 500 bushels of wheat to Minneapolis this week, according to an announcement made today by Frank L. Carey, government buyer in Minneapolis.

Arrangements have been completed between the food administration of Canada and the United States, it was said. The Canadian government recently placed an embargo on wheat with the provision that such shipment could be made if permission was granted by the Canadian food controller.

Need Wheat Now.
"We need the wheat right now, and Canada has a surplus on hand," said Mr. Carey.

"Five hundred bushels will be on the way this week, and more obtained if necessary."
The Canadian shipments will save many of the Minneapolis mills, which have been facing a shut down, because the farmers of the northwest have been slow in sending their wheat in, grainmen said today.

TOWNLEY WANTS RETRACTION.
St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 26.—The St. Paul Dispatch and the Pioneer Press were served with a notice today that A. C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan league, demanded retraction of statements made in editorials. The Dispatch, on its front page, today declared it would not retract. The articles reflected on the loyalty of Mr. Townley, following his participation in the recent producers' and consumers' meeting held here under the auspices of the league.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 26.—Alarmed by the wave of public indignation which the pro-German conference in the guise of a consumers' and producers' convention has created; convinced, at last, that red, ranting socialism and anarchy have been carried to too great limits, a very subdued Townley appeared yesterday before the Minnesota safety commission to disclaim responsibility for the meeting of which he was the engineer and conductor, whose speakers he selected, and whose subjects he is presumed to have approved of.

League Shipping Fast.
Important phases of Townley's explanations and apology to the Minnesota public safety commission are his statements that:

When a rumor was heard that LaFollette would change his subject and talk on war, a delegation was sent to wait on him and he told this committee he would talk on "The National Nonpartisan League." That Townley was interrupted by LaFollette in the course of his mad tirade to remind him of his pledge to refrain from talking about war, "but to no avail."

That the league membership in North Dakota is now but 20,000—one year ago the league claimed 40,000 members.
First News of it.
In none of the reports of the LaFollette speech was there any intimation that Townley or any of his cohorts had attempted to interrupt the Bagier pro-German. In fact, Townley and his clique bided down efforts of loyal Americans in the audience to prevent LaFollette from continuing his seditious remarks, it was reported.

Would Expel LaFollette.
Expulsion of Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin from the United States senate is demanded in a petition addressed to that body late Tuesday by the Minnesota public safety commission. Senator LaFollette is accused in the commission resolution of making an address of disloyal and seditious nature at a public meeting before a large audience at the Nonpartisan league convention last Thursday night in this city.

The commission also referred to the United States district attorney the matter of the conduct of Senator LaFollette and others at the same meeting with a request that the parties, if found to have violated any federal statutes, be vigorously prosecuted.
The action of the commission came at the close of an executive session of the house, duration, given almost exclusively to consideration of the LaFollette speech and a searching examination of A. C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan league. The latter expressed his disappointment at the statements in which the senator indulged and disclaimed responsibility for permitting the utterances.

No State Law Violated.
Governor Burnquist said later that the attorney having said that there was no infraction of state laws, the commission was compelled to be content with referring the matter to federal authorities for action.

"President Townley and others connected with the meeting had given repeated assurances that the meeting would be confined to discussions of economic questions and the war issues would be left untouched," said the governor.

Townley Had Premised.
Another officer of the commission repeated that only after positive as-

A Million Dollars for a Million Books for a Million Soldier Boys

Bismarck Enters Upon Nation-Wide Campaign to Supply Seemingly With Suitable Reading Material General Tasker H. Bliss Heartily Commends Great Work.

One of the first official acts of Major General Tasker H. Bliss the new chief of staff of the United States army yesterday was the preparation and telegraphing of a ringing endorsement of the library war-council million dollar campaign to provide libraries for all soldiers and sailors in United States service, to Major General Carter of Chicago.

General Bliss, with a perfect knowledge of army conditions and surroundings and knowing well the dangers that confront the hundreds of thousands of active, eager young American men who have been suddenly snatched from civilian life and surrounded with military restraint that bars practically all former amusements, is a firm believer in every thing that will help to "keep fit" men fit.

The library war fund campaign, conducted by a committee appointed by Hon. Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, and headed by Frank A. Vanderlip, the well known New York banker, opens today and continues until Sept. 30. Simultaneous campaigns are being conducted in every state, city, town and village in the country and every state has been asked to raise an amount equal to five per cent of its population.

The plan has been enthusiastically endorsed by practically every state governor and in many states the governor is taking an active part in the campaign service.

To Build 30 Libraries. The library war council has in charge the erection of libraries at the 32 cantonments, the providing of skilled librarians and the furnishing of 10,000 books for each building. The work is directly in line with that of the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus, and was turned over to the library war council and its working body, the American Library association, by the committee on training camp activities, because both organizations felt that the American Library association was best qualified to provide for the library work.

"A million dollars for a million books for a million soldiers" is one of the slogans of the great nation-wide campaign, and every dollar raised this week by the committees in charge of the work will go toward the erection of buildings and the purchase of books. The entire expense of the campaign has been taken care of by private subscription.

Dollar Buys a Book. One dollar buys a book, replaces it when worn out and adds in the upkeep of the libraries. Every donor of $1 or more may have his name placed in one of the books that goes to soldiers in cantonments, on the march, at naval stations, on board ship, in active service, on rest periods, returning from the front and in the hospitals. No soldier or sailor in the

NORTH DAKOTA MUST LOOK TO WYOMING COAL

This Field Assigned by United States Fuel Commissioner, to Distant Field

ANTHRACITE RECEIPTS

4,000,000 TONS SHORT

No Chance of Sufficient Eastern Supply—All Simmers Down to Native Lignite

That the entire state of North Dakota must depend upon Wyoming fields for the bulk of its coal other than lignite during the coming cold season is an impression gained by coal dealers from late bulletins of the United States fuel commission. Very little Montana coal will come in to the state, they believe. Mines at Red Lodge are controlled by the Northern Pacific, which will consume practically the entire output of these fields in its locomotives and shops. Near Creek coal has been commandeered by other railway companies, and Wyoming mines are the nearest source of supply other than native lignite fields left open to North Dakota.

4,000,000 Tons Short.

There is a shortage of four million tons of anthracite at the head of the lakes," said a Bismarck fuel dealer today, "and no one who knows anything about the situation can expect that any large percentage of this will be made up. There are not enough boats on the big lakes to handle this amount in the short time left before navigation closes, and it is equally certain it can't be brought in by rail. Lignite will be our first salvation, and if we can't use that we will have to rely on the semi-bituminous coals of Wyoming."

Prices Cut Down.

The fuel commission already has cut down the price of Wyoming coal 75 cents at the mine. The reductions on slack and screenings have been much more, so much, in fact, that the producers have rebelled and are refusing to ship out anything but mine run coal. This stuff is full of slack, not easy to handle, and there is a big loss in it. The coal is selling, however, for $7.50 per ton, within 75 cents of as little as we have been able to get it for in the last two years."

Wyoming has a great wealth of coal and can easily supply the northwestern district which, it is understood has been assigned to the producers of this state, with instructions to take care of this territory and to leave other districts to other fields.

A CHUM'S A CHUM TO HOMESICK SAMMY

This little scamp of a monkey brings his soldier-master good luck as well as companionship. He plays the double role of mascot and confidant. When a feller's far from home anything to play with and fuss over and distract the attention from the grind of training or fighting releases the tension. And how could a soldier with a mascot like this ever get shot?

Its "a humdinger." "The Brides Silence" with Gail Kane at the Orpheum tonight.

About Noses.

In Persia, anything but an aquiline nose is "off." Even quite a decent snub-nose is well out of it. But in "Lunda" a lady is chiefly sought on account of her India-rubber nose. In Japan it must be "tip-titled." In a heavenly direction, and in Britain any sort of old nose will pass so long as it is not crowding poking itself into other people's business.—London Chronicle.

To Clearly Convey News.

"One Who Splits an Indefinite Every Time and Glories in the Job" writes: "What do you superstitious make of this, which I take from a report of a company meeting held recently: 'The director decided to more than double the carry-forward.' C on the meaning be conveyed as precisely by preserving the integrity of the verb?—London Chronicle."

Sure of One Thing.

A maiden lady of more or less uncertain years, no matter if she has made a failure of everything she has ever undertaken, is always sure she would be a success as a wife.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

"The Bride's Silence" is a splendid society drama and will be shown at the Orpheum tonight featuring Gail Kane.

Hair in Form of Cross.

Petersburg, Ind.—Lester Battle is going to leave his hat at home for a while. After much study Lester decided on what he thought would be the best scheme to show his enthusiasm for the Red Cross. He went to a barber shop and whispered a few words to the barber. Then the barber got busy. When Lester left the shop his hair was cut closely—except for a spot on the back of his head, where the hair was left in the form of a cross.

Animal Remains.

The remains of "Thontosaurus" were discovered in the Upper Jurassic of Wyoming. It measured from 50 to 60 feet in length, had a small head, arched body, long tapering neck and tail. The "dinosaur" found in the Upper Jurassic of Colorado has the following dimensions: Head and neck, 23 feet 3 inches; body, 12 feet 4 inches; tail, 29 feet 2 inches; total length, 84 feet 9 inches; height at the shoulder, 11 feet 5 inches; height at the back, 12 feet 9 inches.

"Whistle Nothing."

Willie, a Southern boy, was playing in the back yard when he came into possession of a green persimmon. He ate it and it puckered his mouth in a most grotesque fashion. Becoming excited over the situation, he ran into the house, where his little sister was playing on the floor. "Oh, mother, look at Willie! I think he is going to whistle," shouted the little girl. "Whistle nothing," said Willie. "Can't you see I'm pissened?"

Egyptians as Agriculturists.

The ancient Egyptians had manions supplied with gardens, orchards, fish ponds and game preserves; they were acquainted with the benefits of the rotation of crops, and bred poultry extensively, practicing artificial hatching as we do at the present time. As early as 4,511 B. C., or 4,431 years ago, irrigation became an object of national importance to the Egyptians.

RED CROSS MEN WIN FAME FOR HEROISM ABROAD

Major Murphy Tells of Deeds of Bravery by Americans on Several Battle Fronts.

MANY GET SPECIAL HONORS

Vast Activities of the Organization Are Described—Field Service New Max Forty Sections Actually on Duty on the French Front.

Paris.—Deeds of heroic courage by American Red Cross men on several battle fronts have just been described here in a statement by Maj. Grayson P. Murphy, American Red Cross commissioner for Europe. He also gives details of the vast and many-sided activities the organization has been carrying on, which now are being multiplied many times.

Following out its previously announced project, the commission has already established relief and rest stations for the troops at points where they must live over while in transit from the base receiving camps to the training camps near the front. Owing to the demoralized condition of the French railways, troops are often obliged to spend between 48 and 72 hours in making a journey that could ordinarily be accomplished in 12 hours.

The cars in which they are transported are frequently small French freight cars, into which 30, more often 40, men are crowded. The result has been that cases of measles, mumps, diphtheria and on numerous occasions more serious diseases have broken out among the men. To provide against such an emergency, station dispensaries, each containing ten beds, a doctor and two nurses, have been opened. Suspected cases or men asking for treatment are handled immediately instead of awaiting for the arrival of the train at its destination. The patients are visited each day by some member of the Red Cross, who brings them tobacco, sweets or something to read, the purchases being made from the funds which the United States has so generously subscribed.

Another activity of the Red Cross consists in the bringing to France of about twenty Belgian police dogs, which will be trained to go out and look for wounded. The dogs have been tried out in other armies, notably the French and Russian, and have reached a high degree of proficiency in their work.

Training the Dogs.

The method of training is to start in to teach the dog to fetch an object, usually a man's cap. Then he is taught to seek out the wearer of the cap, to return and lead the trainer to the wearer, supposedly wounded. The dogs have also been used with great success in detecting the presence of wounded men caught in the enemy's wire entanglements and unable to escape through weakness.

With the formal transfer of the American ambulance to the American army, the ambulance ceases to exist, in name, as an auxiliary service of the French army, although it will be virtually continued as such until such time as the American army decides it needs it for its own uses. The American ambulance is not, however, at the present time under the control of the Red Cross, although that development may later occur.

Two of the most recent members of the ambulance to receive the war cross and army citations are Basil K. Neff of Larchmont, N. Y., leader of Section 17 of the field service, and Ora R. McMurray of Madison, Wis., a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. Neff has been over a year in the service, and has been twice wounded in the performance of his duty.

NOTED ENGLISH BEAUTY

Viscountess Curzon, wife of Viscount Curzon, eldest son of Earl Howe, is considered the most beautiful woman in the English nobility. She is the only daughter of the late colonel, the Hon. Montagu Curzon. The beautiful Viscountess has two children.

Her remarkable beauty has made her famous internationally. She is one of the most popular women in court circles. Viscountess Curzon since the outbreak of the war, like many other members of the nobility and social set, has been spending a great deal of her time at war relief work.

Viscount Curzon is commander of the Royal Naval Volunteer reserve. He was aboard the Queen Elizabeth, the great English superdreadnaught, during the Dardanelles operations. He is still aboard that vessel.

For conspicuous bravery under shell fire in the Salonica region. All of them are members of Section 10 of the American field service, and for the last nine months have been engaged in the Balkans, for the most part before Monastir, where they faced the double danger of enemy shells and the violent fevers that periodically make their appearance in the lowlands of Macedonia during the summer months.

"For both bravery and distinguished conduct," their citations read, "an absolute disregard of the personal risks to which they exposed themselves and their spontaneous action in bringing in the wounded from the most advanced positions." The War Cross has been awarded to each of the following: W. D. Swan of Boston, James Harley of Knoxville, Tenn.; Frank Fitzsimmons of New York, Kimberley Stuart of Saginaw, Mich.; and John Elliston of Los Angeles, Cal.

For Unusual Bravery.

In addition to the Croix de Guerre, or War Cross, Elliston was singled out for special distinction, being awarded the Cross with Palms, which means an act of unusual bravery. During a local engagement around Monastir in which the French were endeavoring to take a strongly held trench that formed the advanced element of a Bulgarian salient, the troops advanced to the attack about four in the morning, before the sun had made any activity almost intolerable.

By five o'clock the blue-coated poilus had swarmed over the Bulgarian entrenchments, bayoneting or bombing out of the enemy who remained to offer resistance. The enemy counter-attack was slow in organizing, and the poilus began the tiresome work of consolidating the position. Almost at high noon the violence in the enemy's shell fire presaged the coming counter-attack. Fifteen minutes later the Bulgars came over the top of their second line of defense and hurled themselves on the small band of French.

The latter held firm and not only succeeded in driving off the counter-attack, but chased the enemy back to their second line, blowing up the dugouts and putting a number of machine guns out of action. It was during the intense heat of the mid-day and the concentrated fire of the Bulgarian heavy guns that the stretcher-bearers had to go out in the open and pick up the wounded. No facilities were at hand for their treatment, and an ambulance was asked for to evacuate the wounded, who were in dire straits.

Elliston volunteered for the work. During the heaviest part of the bombardment, while the enemy guns were still showering high explosive shells on the newly won territory, he drove his machine over the rough, shell-plitted ground. Instead of the sign of the Red Cross diverting the Bulgarian fire, it seemed rather to attract it. Shrapnel and tear-compelling shells burst all around the young American, but under the most terrific fire he thrice made the journey in safety and carried to the base hospital every dangerously wounded case.

Loss 50 Ambulance Chassis.

Charles M. Ashton of Philadelphia was on duty at a relief post following up the French advance in the Champagne and also awaiting the call to drive his machine to the front. The Germans were vigorously shelling the entire district when a sharp shell burst within twenty feet of the young man's ambulance. Two of the balls struck him, one in the abdomen, the other in the arm, while a piece of the shell inflicted a nasty wound on his leg. Thanks to the prompt action of the surgeons, he will recover, but will probably be invalided out of the service.

Despite the loss of fifty ambulance chassis when the steamer Orleans, the first American ship to run the German submarine blockade, was torpedoed about a month ago, the American field service succeeded in placing three new ambulance sections in the field last week and two additional transport sections.

One of the ambulance sections, No. 20, is composed entirely of Harvard men, with Ralph R. Richmond of Milton, Mass., as section commander. Transport section No. 242 has also a number of Harvard men in its ranks, its commander being a Harvard boy, Thomas H. Dougherty of Philadelphia. Transport section 1 is commanded by George G. Struby of Denver, Colo., a Yale graduate, who has already won glory and the war cross for bravery in action, while the other two ambulance sections, No. 69 and No. 70, are commanded by Charles A. Butler of New York, a graduate of Columbia, and Arthur J. Putnam of Deposit, N. Y., a Cornell man, respectively.

Altogether, the field service now has forty sections actually in service at various parts of the French front, of which twenty-nine are ambulance sections, for transporting the wounded, and eleven transport sections, for the handling of munitions and supplies. This represents a personnel of close to 2,500 volunteers, for the most part young Americans from the best families in the United States.

American aviators flying with the French forces came in for their share of mishaps during the past week. Lawrence Scanlon of Cedarhurst, L. I., otherwise known as "Red" Scanlon, had one of the narrowest escapes on record when his machine, getting out of control, fell from a height of 700 feet and crashed onto the roof of an army bakery at Avord, the French training camp for aviators.

Scanlon was making a trial flight in a Nioupport and had circled around in the most approved professional manner, and had started to descend. Of a sudden his motor stopped. Never before having had experience with a "pauvre de moteur," the young aviator decided the best course was to get to the earth with the least possible loss of time. He aimed for the aviation field, but an error in judgment or a stray gust of wind drove him too far, and he came down upon the bakery roof with a force that drove the nose of the Nioupport clear through.

Unhurt, but slightly stunned, Scanlon scrambled out of the debris and climbed down off the roof by means of a ladder that had been left propped against the wall. Just as he started off to report the captain of the camp came rushing up, and seeing Scanlon going away from the scene of the accident, ordered him back to assist in the removal of the supposedly dead man, or to go call a doctor if it was discovered he was seriously wounded.

Scanlon saluted the captain, saying: "He's all right, captain."

"How do you know? Who was it that fell?" demanded the captain.

"'Twas I, captain," replied the young American, saluting again.

"Well, you have had the most remarkable escape I have ever witnessed," declared the captain. "Young man, you were never made to be injured by a fall from an airplane."

The speed with which it fell was such that the nose was completely buried inside the bakery, leaving only six feet of the tail protruding through the outside of the roof.

Economy in Dress.

People who dress well in modern means never make the mistake of having too many garments at one time. It is better to take good care of one's belongings, brushing, cleaning and mending when necessary and then replenishing them, with new as needed.

Odor.

Any substance that will not dissolve in water has an odor. It is the actual substance itself, floating in particles in the air, as in the case of light and sound. The damper a thing is the more powerful the odor it gives off. A pleasant proof of the fact can be had by walking in a garden after rain. It is the vapor of a liquid that smells and not the liquid in the mass itself.

Brilliant Reception Marks Week's Social Activities

The reception given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. George Douglass Mann and Mrs. F. E. Luehe in the home of the latter on First street and Avenue A in honor of Mrs. R. C. Battey, was one of the most brilliant society events of the fall season. The Luehe home was appointed to represent a Japanese garden. The color scheme of red and gold was effectively used to bring out the artistic oriental effect in the living and dining rooms. The hostesses and assistants were imported Japanese gowns with the characteristic hair ornaments.

Mrs. Mann, Mrs. Luehe and Mrs. Battey received from 3 o'clock to 6 over 150 guests from this city and surrounding towns. Receiving at the door was Little Miss Edith Eleanor Mann, young daughter of the hostess, Little Miss Marys Lahr and Little Miss Louise Berndt. Assisting the hostesses in the living room were Mrs. A. M. Christensen, Mrs. J. A. Haney, Mrs. H. E. Steele and Mrs. A. G. Jacobson.

Luther League Meeting. Mrs. Carl J. Ellison of Avenue D, will entertain members of the Luther League of the Swedish Lutheran church Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Feed Sale. The Ladies Aid society of the First Presbyterian church will hold a feed sale Saturday afternoon in the office of the Hughes Electric company. A fine line of household articles will be on sale.

To Form Student Section. Instructions of music in the city will meet this evening with Mrs. A. G. Jacobson, president of the Thursday musical club at her home in the Rose apartments to assist in the organization of the student section of the club. Names of eligible pupils will be presented for membership. This new feature of the year's work of the club promises to be very interesting. Much talent is to be found among the young musicians of the city.

To Teach Dancing. Miss Ruth Arnold of Chicago, niece of Dr. and Mrs. Martin W. Roan, has announced the opening of a dancing class for Saturday afternoon in Patterson hall. Miss Arnold is an artist in both the aesthetic and ball room dancing. Her interpretative dancing yesterday afternoon at the reception given by Mrs. G. D. Mann and Mrs. F. E. Luehe was a thing of beauty. The young artist has had considerable experience as instructor of this art in Chicago. She plans to give lessons on interpretative dancing from 3 o'clock to 5:30 and the ball room dancing from 5 o'clock to 6.

Return from Convention. Mrs. William Suckow and Miss Cora Dickerson, representing the local branch of the W. C. T. U., have returned from the state convention in Valley City and report a splendid gathering of that body. They were especially pleased with the re-election to the presidency of Mrs. Elizabeth Darrow O'Neill. Among the important matters considered at the convention was the naming of delegates to the national convention which will be held in Washington, D. C., the week of Dec. 1. They are: Mrs. Abbie W. H.

Cheer Suffrage Victory. An interesting feature of the Tuesday afternoon session was the telegram received by Mrs. Elizabeth D. O'Neill from Mrs. Maud Wood Park of Washington, chairman of the National Congressional committee, telling of the victory won when the house voted 74 for a suffrage committee to work in the house. Representatives Young and Baer of North Dakota voted for, with Representative Norton voting against. Representative Norton represents one of the strongest suffrage districts in North Dakota and the women were surprised over his dissenting vote.

The following resolutions were adopted: Be It Resolved, That the North Dakota Votes for Women League extend a vote of thanks to Mr. E. G. Patterson for the courtesies shown them at this convention, and to Mr. G. E. Wingreen for the use of the Grand theatre, which he so kindly gave, and to Gov. Lynn J. Frazier, to Rev. Busselle, to Walter J. Millard and to Mr. Orland D. Weeks for their excellent addresses.

To the ladies of Bismarck for their hospitality to this convention. And Be It Further Resolved, That the secretary be hereby instructed to send each a letter of thanks. Be It Also Resolved, That the North Dakota Votes for Women League reaffirms its steadfast loyalty and support to our president and our government.

And Be It Further Resolved, That we continue to carry out the patriotic work assigned to us by our government through our national suffrage organization, and finally.

"Bustle" Startles the Style World, But It's a Pleasant Surprise

New York, Sept. 26.—The bustle startled the style world when Hickson displayed these three gowns at the recent Shelton looms fashion show.

But because they were startled were women disappointed? Not a bit. The bustle is only a welcome recognition of woman's right to her hips.

And so all the women said, "Too long hath the straight silhouette of the flapper made us suffer. Venus had curves. Great is Hickson even though he exaggerate, for by way of exaggeration shall we come back to natural lines." The original bustle was an invention of the seventies. It was elongated, eventually, and called the pannier.

Women stooped forward in adjusting their equilibrium as they walked with a mincing step. They called their poise the "Grecian bend" while men described it as the "hangaroo." But now-a-days no woman considers the possibility of a return to the hangaroo. Hickson's draperies are simply the glad promise of emancipation from the unnatural lines of the juvenile straight corset.

CAPTAINS OF LOCAL COMPANIES ASK FOR READING FOR TRIP

Captains Jack Murphy, Henry T. Murphy and A. L. Welch of the local companies are making an appeal to the people of the Capital City and surrounding towns for reading matter for the soldier boys to be read during the trip to Camp Greene in Charlotte, N. C.

Many weary hours will elapse before the boys reach their destination in the southland. Always on the watch for the comfort of the boys in khaki the heads of the companies thought it would be a kindness to furnish their men with reading matter. Any of the periodicals will be acceptable. Anyone having donations should call Capt. Jack Murphy at phone 172-K, Capt. Henry T. Murphy at 577 and Capt. Welch at 238.

REV. BUZZELLE TO CONDUCT CHURCH SERVICE AT GRAND

Rev. George Buzzelle of St. George's Episcopal church has announced a series of Sunday evening services to be conducted by him at the Grand Theatre commencing next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. The services are designed to appeal to all classes of people, the church-goer and the man who seldom finds his way into the regular services of the church.

Familiar hymns, and plenty of them, special instrumental and vocal music and the plain gospel story presented in its relation to present day problems will feature these services. The invitation is extended to everyone.

HAS NINE GRANDSONS IN BRITISH ARMY

Denver, Colo.—The Victoria Cross might be the reward of Mrs. S. Harris, aged seventy, were her contributions to the allied cause brought to the attention of King George. Mrs. Harris has nine grandsons now fighting in the British armies, and an only son is about to enlist in Uncle Sam's army of liberty.

All nine grandsons are brothers, children of Mrs. Harris' daughter, who is now dead. The boys were living in Saskatchewan, in western Canada, when the Dominion government first called for volunteers. Seven of them enlisted in the famous Princess Patricia's regiment and, despite the heavy casualties in that crack organization, they are all alive. Two others entered the British navy. The boys are Thomas, George, William, James, J. B. Justus, Larry, W. B. and Dennis Pollard, and range in age from nineteen to thirty-three years.

Mrs. Harris' husband was a Confederate soldier.

Bread-Making Superstitions. Regarding bread making, there are several superstitions. In Yorkshire, England, nearly all the housewives still bake their own bread. After kneading the dough and leaving it to rise, a deep cross is cut in it with a knife. This is to "let the which out," and the custom is common to this day. In Scotland they say that the yeast must be made from the tail of a guinea pig, or the bread will not be light.

VARIETY OF SHAPES IN SMALL HATS

New York, Sept. 26.—Pretty girls who refuse to conceal their complexions beneath fashionable broad brims, can still find a variety of medium shapes to select from. The tam or beret is a hangover from summer. Fabians achieve much the same softness when bordered with narrow puff of velvet. And the rather stiff tricorn takes on a fascinating jaunty when adorned with a shaggy-long tassel. The materials for both big and little hats are velvets and tulle. The latter is everywhere favored.

National President of Women's Clubs Urges Support of War Library Scheme

Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, president of the National Federation of Women's clubs, has issued a call to the club women to make the week of September 24 "Library War Week." Mrs. Cowles asks that the various clubs make a special effort to do some thing practical along the lines suggested by the state committee.

"The club women can do much to help," says Mrs. Cowles, "by making scrap books of short stories, anecdotes and jokes, which are being published in papers and magazines." Such books are sent through the Red Cross or directly to the camps in charge of one of the officers.

Mrs. M. C. Budlong, state chairman, and Mrs. E. G. Patterson, county chairman, are making an extensive campaign in the city this week for books and money for the soldiers. A committee of girls are now soliciting for this fund.

NORTHERN PACIFIC MUST PAY DAMAGES FOR FLOODED ROOM

Supreme Court Holds Railway Company Should Have Made Provision for Drain

In treeless, occasionally rainless North Dakota, it is not necessary to the proof of a natural drainage that there should be proof of water flowing at all times or of a wearing away of the grass at the bottom, rules the supreme court, in finding the Northern Pacific Railway company at fault for not providing an outlet for flood waters under its right of way at Dickinson, thereby flooding the basement of a business house operated by Henry L. Reichert and William G. Ray, following an unusually heavy downpour of rain a few years ago. Reichert & Ray recovered a verdict against the railway company in the district court. The Northern Pacific appealed, and the supreme court today affirms the findings of the lower court.

"In treeless areas such as those in North Dakota the courts must take cognizance of the natural topography of the country and of its climatic condition and that large volumes of water rush down such drainways in a few days or hours which in wooded districts would form continuous streams and take months to pass away," says the supreme court.

"The fact that such a flood is unusual does not absolve the railway company from liability, if its culvert constructed in an embankment across a natural drainage are inadequate to carry off the water and to save the adjoining property from loss. The question is whether it was beyond ordinary anticipation. Where the culvert or outlet is in fact insufficient for such purposes, the mere fact that competent engineers are employed or that the embankment is constructed in the manner usually adopted by railway companies will not save such company from liability. Where property is flooded by the inadequacy of a culvert in a railway embankment which is constructed across a natural drainage, the burden of proof to show that the rainfall was so unusual and unprecedented that it need not have been anticipated is upon the defendant."

Murtha & Sturgeon and Thomas Pugh of Dickinson were attorneys for the plaintiffs, and Watson, Young & Co. for the defendant.

HER $50,000,000 LEGACY INVOLVED IN WILL INQUIRY

Mrs. Louise Wise, whose inheritance from the Flager fortunes is estimated to exceed $50,000,000, probably has no hand in the investigation of the will of Mrs. Flager-Bingham which may lead to the examining of her body. However, though undoubtedly satisfied with her meager legacy, she finds it also subject, with Judge Bingham's $5,000,000, to the legal angle now under consideration.

SCOOP THE CUB REPORTED

GERMAN-AMERICAN WHO TRIES TO THWART DECLARED WILL OF NATION SHOULD DIE TRAITOR

NONE MAY SHIRK DUTY

Otto H. Kahn, New York Banker, Has Message for Former Countrymen in U. S.

OBLIGATION MORE PLAIN BECAUSE HERE BY CHOICE

Deliberately Chose to Enjoy Benefits of Adopted Land; Must Share Burdens

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 26.—Urging Americans of German descent "to join in our country's righteous struggle against a people of their own blood," which under the evil spell of a dread obsession has made itself the enemy of this peace-loving nation, Otto H. Kahn, banker of New York, before the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce, today pleaded for support of the war policy of the administration at Washington.

Scoring that Prussianism, which he said, "with profound cunning has infiltrated into Germany the demoniacal obsession of power-worship and world domination," Mr. Kahn traced the methods by which he, the Teutonic people have been "systematically poisoned by the Russian ruling caste."

"The world is feverish for peace. But there can be no peace answering to the true meaning of the word, no peace permitting the nations of the earth, great and small, to walk unarmed and unafraid, until the teaching and the leadership of the apostles of an outlaw creed shall have become discredited and hateful in the sight of the German people."

"Woe to the German-American, so called, who in this sacred war for a cause as high as any for which a people took up arms, does not feel a solemn urge, does not see an eager determination to be in the very forefront of the struggle, does not prove a patriotic jealousy, in thought, in action and in speech, to rival and to outdo his native-born fellow-citizen in devotion and in willing sacrifice for the country of his choice and adoption and sworn allegiance and of their common affection and pride."

"He who shirks the full measure of his duty and allegiance in that noblest of causes, he, the German-American, Irish-American, or any other hypocritical American, be he I. W. W. or socialist or whatever other appellation, does not deserve to stand among Americans or indeed among free men anywhere."

"He who, secretly or overtly, tries to thwart the declared will and aim of the nation in this holy war, is a traitor, and a traitor's fate should be his."

"The duty of loyal allegiance and faithful service to his country, even unto death, rests, of course, upon every American."

"They More Than Any Other."

"But, if it be possible to speak of a comparative degree concerning what is the highest as it is the most elementary attribute of citizenship, that duty may almost be said to rest with an even more solemn and compelling obligation upon Americans of foreign origin than upon native Americans."

Here of Own Will.

"For, we Americans of foreign antecedents, are here not by the accidental right of birth, but by our own free choice for better or for worse."

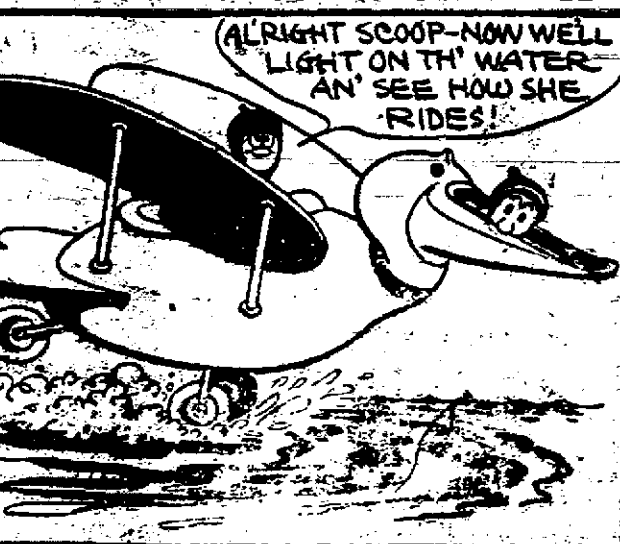

"We are your fellow citizens because you accepted our oath of allegiance as given in good faith, and because you have opened to us in generous trust the portals of American opportunity and freedom, and have admitted us to membership in the family of Americans, giving us equal rights in the great inheritance which has been created by the blood and the toil of your ancestors, asking nothing from us in return but decent citizenship and adherence to those ideals and principles which are symbolized by the glorious flag of America."

History Repeated.

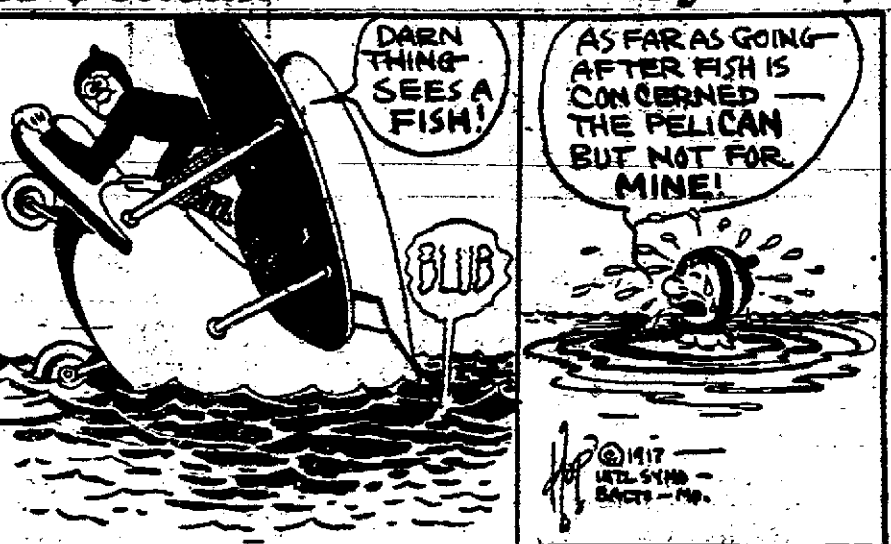

"As Washington led Americans of British blood to fight against Great Britain, as Lincoln called upon the family of Americans, giving us equal rights in the great inheritance which has been created by the blood and the toil of your ancestors, asking nothing from us in return but decent citizenship and adherence to those ideals and principles which are symbolized by the glorious flag of America."

"To gain America's independence, to defeat oppression and tyranny, was indeed to gain a great cause."

TOWNLEY GRINGS WHEN CALLED

insurance was given that nothing of a disloyal or seditious nature would be permitted, was the meeting allowed to be conducted, and added that the commission never felt justified in halting the proceedings.

President Townley stoutly denied making any improper remarks and offered to supply copies of his speech to support his statements in reply to questions fired at him by all members of the commission during his examination.

League Rants Thinning.

Appearing at the request of the commission and accompanied by his attorney, James Magahan, President Townley was cross-questioned as to the purposes and strength of the Nonpartisan league. His answers were taken almost verbatim. Whether an investigation of the league will be carried further, Governor Burquist said to night, probably will depend on future developments.

President Townley told the commission that the league, organized in North Dakota last year, now has more than 100,000 members, of whom approximately 40,000 are in Minnesota, 20,000 are in North Dakota and a like number in South Dakota, while the remaining 20,000 members are scattered over four or five other states extending south to Oklahoma. The first purpose of the league, he continued, is to protect the interests and welfare of the farmers. It is especially active at this time, he said, on alleged discrimination against the farmer who cannot afford to sell his wheat at $2.20 a bushel when flour prices remain on a high level and other demands on his resources.

League Criticized.

Members of the commission indicated their position to the effect that the league should have appealed to the commission for the relief desired instead of resorting to the spread of

The Test for a Traitor

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis Tells How Lack of Loyalty Can Be Spotted—Criticism of Allies Is Abuse of America.

New York, Sept. 26.—The United States can determine who are its traitors by three simple tests, Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis declared yesterday, in the second of a series of sermons on German atrocities at the Plymouth church, Brooklyn.

Traitors in this country at the present time, according to Dr. Hillis, manifest certain peculiarities which stamp their true nature.

Appearances Deceiving.

They may look like loyal Americans and act cautiously, but the direction of their argument, and the force of their logic, he said, distinguishes them infallibly from the rest of the people.

Putting his analysis of the disloyal situation in precise terms, Dr. Hillis said:

"The three tests of the traitor to this country are:

"First—He tries to find something he can criticize in Great Britain, so as to justify German atrocities."

"Second—He will never utter a word of criticism of these atrocities, but hates anybody who can prove the German cruelty."

Defends German Cause.

"Third—He never tires of insisting that Germany is fighting for the freedom of the seas—when, in his wicked heart, he knows that in a half a century there has not been one single British port in the world that has not been as open and as free to a German ship as to a British."

Dr. Hillis remarked further that there are certain German-Americans who think they can nullify the influence of every German atrocity by assembling people and talking on the crimes of England."

"These people, pacifists and aliens, are now with subtle cunning and vast secret trickeries attacking England and trying to alienate the Irish," the preacher added, "as if the mistakes of the United States and England prior to this great war have anything to do with the moral issue involved since this war began."

Should Intern Agitators.

"And these traitors who try to confuse that issue with endless allegations against England should be arrested and interned."

"In their bitterness against England, the pro-Germans cannot understand why the English colonists gladly give their money and their lives," he said, "hurling to the battle fronts of France from the hot plains of the Dekkan in India, the rubber plantations of Ceylon, the indigo fields around Bombay, men from the Australian mines and forests, soldiers from the Canadian ice fields, and from the coral islands of the South Pacific."

proposals as might reflect on federal policies designed to the successful conduct of the war. President Townley said the league officers believed it necessary to arouse the farmers to the conditions and then, through their influence, to go direct to the national government for relief.

The fomentation of this trouble is only one of many activities which authorities here are investigating in connection with the recent seizure of I. W. W. papers throughout the country.

NO CRUMBLING AT CAMP DODGE; BOYS HIT BALL

Splendid Spirit Characterises Great Cantonment Where Dakotans Are Training

WHIPPING INTO SHAPE 20,000 FIGHTING MEN

First Contingents Will Be Finished Soldiers Before Second Have Arrived

Headquarters of Eighty-eighth Division, First National Army, Camp Dodge, Ia., Sept. 26.—"We're in for it now and well, watch us." That's the unwritten slogan at Camp Dodge. The majority of the last 18,000 to reach the cantonment arrived in a drizzle of rain. They wore civilian clothes, summer clothes. And chill winds added to the discomforts of the rain. Many of the special trains were hours late and hundreds of the selectives had gone from eight to 12 hours without food. But there was little grumbling. The grumbler found little solace.

Keeps Men Together.

It was a wise old Uncle Sam that provided for his boys at Camp Dodge. He is keeping the men from each town and county together as far as it is possible to do so, that they may have the companionship of each other when he crosses the Atlantic.

"You can just tell the mothers of these boys that they will be taken better care of here than at boarding school," said General Plummer. "I am going to look after them just as if they were my own sons. Their health is safer here than at home, because we give them every protection our scientists have discovered against disease. We teach them to be men, to exercise self-control and to be clean. We protect them against temptation. Tell the mothers not to worry about their boys."

Men Being Organized.

The 20,000 men are rapidly being whipped into an organized fighting force. The procedure being followed now is exactly the same as that used in the preliminary examination of the first increment of five per cent. First comes inoculation against deadly contagious diseases. While the soldiers are taking that treatment they are taught to salute, and to march in squads and companies. They have been issued hats, shoes and shirts. Soon they will have complete equipment. Gradually the men will be worked into a schedule that calls for 10 hours work each week.

In the meantime, the war department prepared for the grim work ahead: French army officers who have seen months of service at the front are coming to teach the conscripts the fine points of modern war. Four artillery captains—Burotto, Pierotto, Tribes and Monroe—all of whom have had two years' service at the front, will teach the artillery men at Camp Dodge how to throw the barrage fire that will shield their attacking comrades in the infantry from the counter attacks of their German foe. It has been announced that the 339th artillery, composed of men from southern Iowa, will be mobilized completely. The heavy six-inch howitzers used for barrage fire, will be pulled entirely by trucks and tractors.

Few Officers.

That exemption boards did their work well is evidenced by the fact that only 38 men of the entire 2,000 in the first increment were rejected upon physical examination at Camp Dodge. This is a little more than one per cent. Army officers expected five per cent to be returned home.

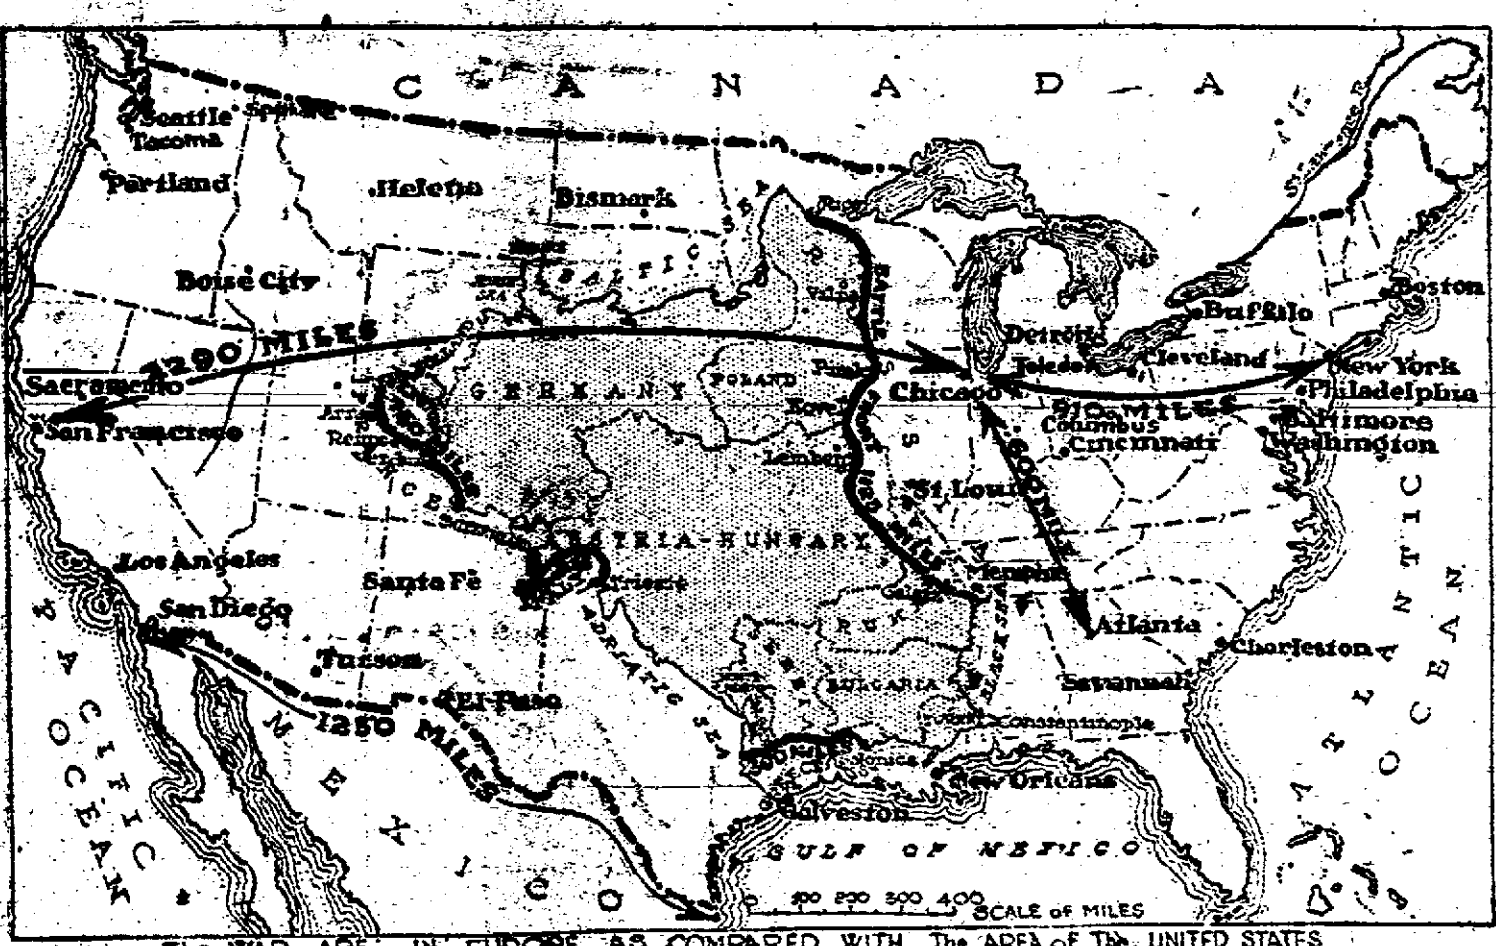

How Men Are Assigned.

Sections of the Thirteenth district have been assigned as follows: Northern Iowa, 350th infantry regiment; southern Minnesota, 341st infantry regiment; northern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota, 352nd infantry regiment; Washington and Hennepin counties, Minnesota to the 37th field artillery, central and western North Dakota to the 338th field artillery; men from the portion of central Illinois allotted to the Thirteenth district to the 349th infantry regiment.

Burning Candle at Both Ends.

Of course, unhappiness is the cause of divorce, and much of the unhappiness is due to the circumstance that the wife has nothing to do at home in the daytime and the husband has entirely too much to do downtown at night.—Houston Post.

Bringing the War Home to America

This map shows how you could put the whole European war into that part of the United States west of the Mississippi and still have plenty of room left. You would, however, realize that you had some war on hand. Drawing the battle lines of Europe on a United States map shows the remarkable extent of the battle lines.

On the eastern front, the Baltic battle line of 1,125 miles, from Riga to Gdansk, would extend from a point west of Lake Superior eastward almost to Chicago and down the Mississippi to the latitude of Atlanta, Ga. Westward and southward from this line stretch all of Germany, Poland, Austria and the Balkans to the 300-mile Saloniki front corresponding to the same distance in Northern Texas.

The 320-mile Italian front which in America would occupy a similar section in New Mexico, east of Santa Fe, and the 450-mile western front in Belgium and France, where the British, Germans, and now the Americans, are at grips. In America this front would run from Salt Lake City southeastward to Pueblo, Col.

The Baltic battle line is 200 miles longer than the distance from Chicago to New York, is half the distance from Chicago to San Francisco, or nearly as far as from the Pacific, at Lower California to the Gulf of Mexico; the Saloniki and Italian lines each would stretch the distance from New York to Boston, and the western front is longer than the distance from New York to Buffalo.

BASEBALL STORIES

Those Cincinnati Reds are keeping up their terrific pace.

Outfielder Wilhoit, the Chicago boy, is now a member of the Giants.

Connie Mack is gradually working his team up the percentage ladder.

Yanks have signed Pitcher Lifer. Must be tough to be a lifer on that club.

Brocklyn has released Wheeler Dell. Taking the wheeze out of wheezer, as it were.

Pitcher Peter Moore, the Ohio col. legian sent by the St. Louis Browns to Omaha, managed to pitch in part of one game and was then chased.

It is said to upset Walter Johnson when he strikes a batsman with a pitched ball. Probably, however, the batsman feels just as bad about it.

Wheeler Fuller, who pitched for Lawrence a few years ago in the New England League, has been signed by Manager Flynn of the Lawrence team.

Difficult for Some.

"It is a very easy to do right" declared a Louisville minister. That brother hasn't had the same experience with the devil that we've had—Houston Post.
